REPAIR VS REPLACE

When considering whether to repair or replace your AC unit, Heat Pump, or Furnace you should take into account: age, warranty, maintenance history, and current efficiency of the unit. As a general rule of thumb.. Commercial AC Units, Heat Pumps, and Furnaces should be replaced at 10-12 years. If you are performing 1-2 repairs within a three year span, this may indicate that your system still has value and repair should be considered. However, 3 or more repairs within a 3 year time span could mean your system is losing efficiency and replacement might be a more viable option depending on the repair cost.
